

Case Management Consultant

Waltja is seeking specialized professional services from a qualified case management consultant.

Waltja Tjutangku Palyapayi Aboriginal Corporation provides intergenerational family support services across central Australian Aboriginal communities. Waltja is governed by senior Aboriginal women from the communities we work with. Waltja's model of practice respects and supports the self-determination and cultural strength of Aboriginal families and communities.

We seek a consultant to support our remote team for the Children and Families Intensive Support program. The case management consultant will provide regular case planning and review meetings with team members, and will guide the customisation of case management resources. The case management consultant would provide sound professional training and guidance to the team, using strength-based models of practice appropriate to the Waltja Way.

The Case Management Consultant will support the team for Waltja's Children and Families Intensive Support program for Anmatjere, Eastern Arrernte and Alywarre communities. This is a long-term (5 year) program with a team of 5 to 6 including Team Leader, fieldworkers and program support worker. It is expected that consultant services would average 12-16 hours per month. The service could be provided face-to-face or on-line.

Negotiable start date in 2022.

For more information or to provide a quote for this service, contact Waltja CEO on manager@waltja.org.au